

9/6/2013

Dear John, Pamela and Harry,

So sorry that we no longer have Sully, but he had a good long life and was in better than average health for his age most of those years.

What a colorful guy! He wore many hats and wore them well. He was many things to many people that included younger people as well as older folks. He loved to entertain people with his spoons, mouth harp and harmonica and we never got tired of hearing him play.

You always run into people he has sent a newspaper clipping to along with a packet of jokes and his memory of those people and their families was remarkable—he always seemed to be able to keep up with what was going on in their lives.

Having worked with him from a young age, I learned a lot about the business world and more so the insurance business. Sometimes it was later before you realized the wisdom of some of his decision. He always knew exactly what he was doing even if you, at times, may have thought he wasn't getting it right.

He was one of a kind! I will always remember him as being a big part of my working life, laugh at his entertaining ways, and remember just how good it made you feel after having a visit with him or getting a note from him with more than just a few jokes.

It is hard to lose one so close to you; however, in time you will find the memories from your life with him will bring you great comfort.

Take care,

Jackie

1964-1965

... that we have a good long time and we will be in better
... for the rest of these years

... the way we have been doing things
... people are not going to be able to do it
... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives

... people are not going to be able to do it
... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives

... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives
... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives

... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives

... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives
... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives

... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives
... we have to be able to keep up with what is going on in their lives